OUT AT THAT GUMBO TRACK

Some of the Fast Trotters and Pacers in Pat Dickerson's Racing Stable.

Delineator, a Celebrated Stallion, and Several of His Little "Aters"-La Grippe Among City Horses-Turf Notes.

HE Indianapolis track continues to hold as many horses in training as it can possibly accommodate, One of the best stables on the ground is that of Pat Dickerson, of this city, one of the best known horsemen of the State. At the head of his stud is Delineator, affectionately known among the stable boys as "de ole hoss." In his four-year-old form six years ago Delineator won a mark of 2:18 in the third heat of a bard-fought race on a half-mile track at Pittsburg and since that time his form as a trotting sire has been established. H has good blood in him, being sired by Director, his first dam Massie, by Shelby Chief, and second by Pilot, jr. Delineator has a numerous progeny and all are flyers.

Jack Shiel, Dickerson's fast pacing stallion, is a high-spirited bay, five years old, by Ross Wilkes, by George Wilkes, dam by Hardwood Mohawk. He has a record of 2:2134, won in the seventh heat of a winning race as a four-year-old last year. He is five or six seconds faster this year, though he did not show it in his race at the Driving Club's meeting, when he happened to be out of humor for some reason or other. He will be started at Columbus, O .. this week. Last week he "worked out" a mile in 2:21, going the last quarter in 31%

McGinty, a two-year-old stallion, son of Delineator, is one of those surprises so frequently cropping out in the horse world. His dam is a plow mare. He is a beautiful His dam is a plow mare. He is a beautiful little bay beast, and the stable boys declare that he can trot into the :20 list right now. Imitator is a yearling, by Delineator, first dam by Scott's Hambrino, second by Blue Bull 75. He has gone a quarter at the remarkable clip of forty seconds, but has not yet been driven a full mile. Alineator, another of the "ator" family, is a four-year-old trotting stallion, showing a mile in 2:85. He starts at Frankfort this week. The last of the —ators in the stud is Lippe-The last of the —ators in the stud is Lippe-ator, a pretty yearling of bright bay, first dam by Anthony by Blue Bull. All this family is owned by Mr. Dickerson, as is also the two-year-old trotter, John B. Gough, an iron gray, by Ross Wilkes, with dam of the Pilot, jr., stock. Aside from these Mr. Dickerson has two or three good borses in training owned by others. horses in training owned by others.

At this time of year, just when the more luxurious of the human race are beginning to suffer the distress of hay fever, the horses of Indianapolis are suffering from an epidemic of genuine la grippe. It is going through all the stables, but no fatal cases have yet been reported. The affected horse's legs swell, it suffers from a high fever and completely loses its appetite. None of the trouble with the eyes accompanying epizootic and so many other equine ills develops. The horse is usually sick about forty-eight hours, when the fever leaves it weak but hungry, and in a day or two, with proper care, it is all right again.

Horse Notes. Martha Wilkes is the latest candidate for

Roy Wilkes paced an exhibition mile at Monmouth, Ill., last week, in 2:091/2. It will not be Axtell and Allerton this year. Another pair will have to be drawn. Pretty Belle, 2:2212, was bred and raised by George A. Eingerly, who still owns her Robert J., 2:09%; Flying Jib, 2:8%; Expert Prince, 2:13%. Indiana pacers were 'in it" last week.

L. A Davies, owner of Roy Wilkes, de-Hal Pointer and Direct. Pilot Medium has a new 2:20 performer in Lady Belle, who took a record of 2:18% at the recent Cleveland meeting. Geneva Wilkes, by Bartholomew Wilkes, lowered her record to 2:284 last week at Columbus, Ind. She is booked for 2:20 this

The little wonder that is out this year is Bine Bull, jr., instead of old Bine Bull. He is knocking at the door of his 2:20 compan-

Another Sultan filly that will come in the 2:30 list when called on is Florence Sultan, whose dam is Florence M., 2:22%, by Blue Hambrino Boy, 2:27, made a good sho wing in his fair race at Columbus, Ind., last

C. W. Williams is considering the advis-ability of building a rubber track. It is estimated that one of this character would

Indiana horse-lovers have reason to be proud of their State journal, the Western Horseman. There is not a neater or newsier horse-paper in the country. The pacing boom is on. Robert J., Flying Jib and Expert Prince are now attracting the lion's share of interest, to say nothing about Hal Pointer and Direct.

Harry Jones, of Rushville, Ind., gave Black Wilkes his record at Columbus, Ind., and also piloted Geneva Wilkes to her win-ning race, and lowered her record.

Guy Princeton (4), 2:284, will be sent to the Dickerson stable at Terre Haute next week. He is acting exceedingly well this season and shows any amount of speed.

On the afternoon of Aug. 6 a matinee was held at Hickory Grove track, Racine, Wis. Jay-Eye-See, the famous gelding, paced to beat 2:28, and finished the mile in 2:17. Belie Vara is a sure race mare. She won at Cleveland, O., in 2:174, 2:184 and 2:19, and at Buffalo, N. Y., last week, the 2:23 trot fell to her in a four-heat race at 2:19,

2:19 and 2:154. Sam Gamble has commenced to prepare Stamboul, 2:11, for a shy at the stallion record. It is unnecessary to state that Samuel thinks there is a likelihood of this fast son of Sultan accomplishing the feat. In a eleven-heat race at Ottawa, Ill., Jubilee De Jarnette, owned by the Elm stock farm, Connersville, Ind., won the first two heats in the 2:29% class. Laughran W., by Newton's Allie Wilkes, won the Flying Jib's fast mile in 2:0812 brings him down in the Direct-Pointer class, and some interesting match-races may be looked for next year. How would a 2:09 pacing class, with $10,000 hung up, do for the Indianapolie spring meeting?

Ball-bearings and pneumatic tires seem to be the improvement in sulkies that are going to make the trotters and pacers go faster. At Monmonth, Ill., Roy Wilkes paced a mile in 2:09 %, although he had but little work this season, and W. S. Frazier's mare Josephine won the 2:28 race, trotting the fifth heat in 2:21 She did it as carrier. the fifth heat in 2:21. She did it so easily that experienced horsemen who saw the performance declared she could have gone in 2:17, if she had to. Both drew the Frazier ball-bearings and pneumatic tires.

Wants Another Park.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: The writer is shocked with the piggardliness of your citizens. Circumstances have made me a temporary citizen of the northeastern part of your city. Having much leisure time I naturally sought some quiet book, like a public park would afford, to while away the time, but I find the avarice of property-owners for personal prosperity has overlooked the happiness of their patrons, so that if one desires to get a cool retreat he can only do so by patronizing the private enterprise of the street-car company by going to Armstrong's or Fairview-too Coly $3.75 to Chicago far and costly for the average citizen. The Via the popular Monon route, the diningold fair ground afforded a place that would | car line.

have put your city in comparison with other cittes of its size, but the desire of selling lots to actual settlers appears to have clouded the vision of the authorities, and now no place offers rest to the weary. But my cause of complaint is personal. Failing to find a park, with saw and hatchet I constructed a rustic seat under a shade tree on a vacant lot at the corner of Thirteenth and College, where I felt sure no one would molest or make me afraid; and now some vandal real-estate agent has rnthlessly destroyed my chair and sup-planted it with notice to sell. And, like all your citizens and their descendants, I am left without the comforts a park would

GAS A GOOD MOTIVE POWER

Indianapolis Inventors Apply the Fluid to the Running of Street Railroads.

Natural Gas Compressed and Stored in the Cars to Turn the Wheels-Great Things Claimed for the Di covery.

For some time past Messrs. J. G. Lightford and Henry Stacey, of this city? have been working on the problem of utilizing natural gas as a motor for street cars, and they believe they are on the point of success. Mr. Lightford is a practical machinist, and Mr. Stacey is a mechanical engineer. They claim that the combustion of 240 cubic feet of Indiana natural gas, by suitable appliances, will propel a street car of thirty-passenger capacity thirty miles, at the rate of ten miles per hour. To effect this result there would be necessary a storage capacity of eighteen cubic feet of gas at a pressure of three hundred pounds on the square inch. For storage purpose they propose to make the framework of the car body of wrought iron pipe. In their mechanism they propose to utilize steam in connection with natural gas, thus getting the double effect of two expansive fluids. The cars are to be charged at storage stations, which would be supplied with compressing apparatus capable of charging a car very quickly. The inventors claim that the cost of running thirty passenger cars eighteen hours by this system will be less than one-fourth the cost of electricity. and that the motion will be smoother and less noisy. They have already taken out two patents and have applied for a third.

CHILDREN'S SUMMER MISSION.

Splendid Work of This Charity This Season-Contributions Acknowledged.

The summer mission completed its eighth week of active service yesterday. During that period it has cared for upward of four hundred individual cases, and the aggregate attendance during that period is over 2,200.

This means life and relief from pain for some poor little thing. It means a rest for tired mothers-a cheerful place for the sister in charge of some sick brother or sister. It means particularly that mothers are taught by the trained nurses how to care for themselves and their children. Some learn for the first time in their life the Some learn for the first time in their life the virtue which lies in a wholesome bath, the wonderful aid to digestion in well-cooked food and, the wonders nature herself will accomplish if she is allowed half a chance to do her work. About $600 is still needed to carry on the work of the mission to the close of the season. A little from each will make this possible. Send in your contributions to the Journal without delay. Agent Gorsuch Averse to Saying Anything About Ray's Rascality.

DID NOT WANT TO TALK.

A reporter called upon Mr. C. M. Gorsuch in regard to the negotiation of the township warrants with which George M. Ray was connected, and asked if any other person in this city besides himself negotiated any of the paper.

"I believe the Capital National Bank bought some," said he. "But I don't wish to say anything about the matter. I really to say anything about the matter. I really do not think I ought to say anything."

"What commission, if any, did you get from Ray for negotiating the paper?"

"Now I told you I didn't think I ought to say anything for the public. This is my own private business and I don't think you should ask me about it. If I were to divulge all the facts it might embarrass any anit that was brought in this connection." suit that was brought in this connection."

The reporter then asked Mr. Gorsuch if he would look at a list of five questions and state whether he had any objections to answering any of them. "I don't care to look at them. I won't say anything except what I have told you, and that is all there is to it. I won't look at the questions."

Queer Cause for a Suit.

Some weeks ago Mary B. Williams, living at No. 15 Summer street, filed suit in damages before a justice against Liza Young for maintaining a nuisance. The facts upon which the suit was based were as follows: Mrs. Williams owns the house at No. 15 Summer street; Mrs. Young owns the two-story frame dwelling adjoining.
Mrs. Williams says that the Young house, which is situated about one foot from the dividing line, on account of decay and lack of attention, leans over and against her property, and that the rain-water from the Young property is discharged upon her property. In the justice's court the case was decided in favor of the defendant. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Williams filed another suit against the same defendant, setting up the same facts and asking an order of the court to abate the alleged nuisance and for $500 damages.

Missionary Meeting. The midsummer meeting of the W. F. M S. of Central-avenue Church was held at the home of Mrs. W. D. Cooper. The attendance was large, and the meeting a highly interesting one. Mrs. J. L. Ballenger read a comprehensive paper on "The Wild Adventures and Hair-Breadth Escapes in the Adirondack Forests.

Villainens Guide Who "Lost" Revs. Taylor and Haines in the Mountain Wilderness-Saved to Their Congregations.

On Thursday Rev. W. F. Taylor, of the First Baptist Church of this city, returned from his summer sojourn in the Adirondacks. "This," said Mr. Taylor, "was my seventh visit to that vicinity, but it is always new, and I think the most delightful region on earth for a summer stay. I went to Lewey lake, and Dr. M. L. Haines joined me there, by appointment, two weeks ago. Lewey lake is thirty miles from the railroad and fourteen miles from the nearest village. To reach it one must go by stage conveyance eighteen miles, four miles by special conveyance and twelve miles by boat. I believe that makes thirty-four miles instead of thirty. Beside, a portage must be made, the boat being carried from one lake to another.

"The guide, who is landlord of the little log hotel where the Doctor and I storped. said there was a trout stream some distance away that had never been fished, the stream rising four miles from Lewey lake. With ideas of great sport we started. It was a rainy morning, which gave promise of a large catch. "When we got there we found that the stream was about fished out and there were few trout in it. But these were larger than usual. We fished all the way down this stream to Cedar river, which once was noted as the best trout stream in the north woods. Then we fished down this river for a mile or so. At 4:30 in the afternoon we started for the log cabin, preceded by our guide.

"He was a very intelligent man, with full confidence in his knowledge of the woods, so that he disdained the use of a compass. Like other guides I have met, he was of the opinion that he knew the woods as well as any one could know the city. The mountains were covered with clouds, and when we left the river it began to be evident that the guide was in doubt. Forty minutes later we found ourselves back at the The guide then confessed that he was lost.
"We took a new start, following up the brook in which we had fished earlier in the day. Two hours elapsed. It was growing very dark and the Doctor and myself were completely exhausted. We realized that it was impossible to go a step further. This meant a night in the woods. We had long before eaten up our luncheon, and now, after our tramp, we were ravenously hungry. Dr. Haines thought we could make a good meal of the trout we had taken, and, tired as he was, insisted upon cleaning some fish. All this time there was a dismal, drizzling rain. Our matches were damp and there was some doubt whether we could start a fire with our red-head matches. They failed to ignite when we scratched them. The guide then showed us a trick. He took a match, and cutting into it with his pocket-knife lighted it. "The fish were roasted over the fire, and then the Doctor and myself made another discovery. Tront without salt are not entable even by hungry men. The Doctor took but one bite, and that was enough. Even less was enough for me. We had made our fire under a huge birch. It was the only place we could find, as the ground was rough and rocky thereabout. The flames crept up the tree and at last attacked a large dead limb at least fifteen feet from the ground. We were lying under this tree thoroughly tired when the guide gave a shout and Dr. Haines rolled over. As he did so, and he was wonderfully quick about it, a part of the great limb came thundering down, falling upon the exact spot where his head had lain a brief moment be-where his head had lain a brief moment before. It was a very close call for the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Indianapolis. We had to me in that place and keep a sharp look out above our heads for the remainder of the night. We had very little sleep, you may well believe. At 5 o'clock in the morning we resumed our journey, and reached the hotel at 7 o'clock, in time for breakfast. We were stiff and sore, and slept a great part of the day.

"Lewey lake is an ideal place for a vacation. Deer are plentiful, though we did not try to shoot any. We saw three one morning as we paddled down the lake. It is said that the protection afforded by the game law has resulted in a great increase in deer. We had venison at the cabin hotel almost every day, and all the tront we wanted. One of our friends caught a lake trout thirteen and three-fourth pounds trout thirteen and three-fourth pounds actual weight. A distinguished lawyer from New York city caught five one day weighing from two to twelve pounds each."

Dr. Haines did not come home. He is at Cayuga lake, having found his family the guide had lost his way, and so he and Dr. Haines had their adventure in the woods, but there are persons who think the guide was a solemn sylvan joker who wanted to have some fun with the parsons, and that he now has a story which he will tell to other summer guests of the night he gave the Indianapolis shepherds in the north woods.

About eighteen months ago a small speck appeared on my ankle; it resembled a fish scale; it became larger, and I consulted a physician who pronounced it psoriasis or monied disease because it resembled money. I applied an ointment, but it spread until at last it covered almost my entire body. My suffering was something terrible, burning and itching sensation continually until it became almost unendurable. I suffered tortures especially at night, and for two months I was compelled to sleep with gloves on. I became desperate. I would have given anything to be relieved of the itching sensation. I tried a number of remedies without any relief. I was requested to try Cuticara; this I did, and to my great surprise. I was relieved after the fest application. I used the Cuticura, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Resolvent according to directions for about four or five weeks, when I was entirely cured. But what a relief it was to me after the suffering I went through.
